Dinners are served in the greenhouse at Beetlebung Farm, on Martha's Vineyard.

book it the vineyard's top table

It all started with a goat, roasted over a fire and served to friends last July at the organic Beetlebung Farm on Martha's Vineyard. Since then, bold-faced names including Saturday Night Live cast members have been spotted at chef Chris Fischer's greenhouse dinners, where everyone sits on bales of hay as he cooks island-only ingredients on camp stoves. As SNL's Seth Meyers puts it, "You spend the entire meal pretending to listen to the person next to you while anticipating what the next course is going to be."
